

Austin Capers

Austin Capers is employed at Scientific Instruments Inc. in West Palm Beach, Florida. Some of his responsibilities at SII include the marketing and sales of various types of cryogenic thermometers, temperature indicator and controller devices, aerospace temperature and liquid level probes and transducers and commercial aircraft temperature probe assemblies. Austin is also a U.S. Army Combat veteran. He served on active duty for 5 years including two combat deployments in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom. After being honorably discharged, he fulfilled a lifelong dream of graduating from Florida State University. Austin now lives in Hobe Sound, Florida, with his wife Natalie and daughter Logan.